

Business Administration

Business Administration degrees are among the most popular college programs in the United States and with good reason. Equipped with a versatile degree, students can potentially launch a career in any industry, from marketing to manufacturing, accounting to analytics. With a two-year Associate degree, students find employment as a project manager or information system analyst or jump into the role of an office manager or a small business owner. With a bachelor's degree in business administration, students qualify for vital roles in private, public, and nonprofit organizations. Students will be prepared to work across industries as a business analyst, human resources generalist, operations manager, or marketing specialist. Some Business Administration graduates also venture into entrepreneurship, creating their own successful enterprises from the ground up.
